

Bell companies operate an "essential facility", and should have to accommodate other ISP firms that wish to purchase access from them. In fact, I wish there was better funded oversight, as I know of at least two examples where my local BOC has shut other ISPs away from offering DSL to my neighborhood, via what must be some legal loophole or "trick" - while they advertise loudly their own DSL service.